Weekly Bulletin Friday 8 May 2026

Good morning everyone,

SATs KS2:

Next week our year 6 pupils will be completing their SATs. The tests will be administered in the upstairs classroom under the direction of the class teacher and a member of the senior leadership team and/or governor. Children are invited into school at 8:30am to have snack and a drink and will be prepared for the test they will be sitting. On the days where two tests are administered, the children will still have break and a snack with the rest of the school in between the tests. Please see below the tests on each day:

Monday 11th May	Tuesday 12th May	Wednesday 13th May	Thursday 14th May
Grammar Paper 1 & Paper 2	English Reading	Maths Paper 1 & 2	Maths Paper 3

All our children have worked extremely hard this year and we wish them the best of luck!

KS1 SATs

As we look ahead for the rest of the half term, our KS1 Y2 pupils will be sitting the KS1 SATs papers the week commencing 18th May with their class teacher. These are a great opportunity to identify pupils learning and allow teachers to address gaps and stretch pupils to achieve their full potential.

School Privacy notice:

We have recently updated our school privacy notice, please see here

<https://www.fstfederation.org.uk/page/?title=GDPR&pid=26> for how we share data including for statutory assessment.

Reading in Key Stage 2:

We have received queries recently regarding what books children should be reading once they are in Key Stage 2 when they have completed the fluency scheme in school. Please find the two posters with recommendations for the children 7-9 years old and 9-11 years old. Scholastics also have a list of recommended books for different age ranges on the website below (this can be found at the bottom of this website):

I hope everyone finds this useful to aid decisions on what books to buy children.

Have a lovely weekend everyone!

Thanks,

Miss Tordoff

Tick Awareness:

It's important to be tick aware while enjoying the outdoors.

Ticks are most active in the UK from March to October, with most bites commonly reported during May and June. They can carry pathogens (microorganisms that cause disease) such as Lyme disease and, more rarely, tick-borne encephalitis.

Ticks live in many different outdoor environments, often found in woodland, rough upland or moorland pastures, heathland, grazed grasslands and some urban parks. You are more at risk of being bitten when taking part in activities such as hiking, cycling or camping, but ticks can also sometimes be found in urban gardens.

When you are enjoying the outdoors be tick aware and where possible:

use an insect repellent that prevents ticks

wear long sleeves and long trousers to prevent direct skin exposure keep to clearly defined paths and avoid brushing against vegetation

check for ticks on young children, around their heads and necks

when you're back indoors, check for any ticks on you, your children and pets

What to do if you're bitten:

remove the tick as soon as you can, either using a tick removing device or fine-tipped tweezers grab the tick as close to the skin as you can and pull upwards clean the area with soap and water keep an eye on the bite area for a few weeks in case of any changes

if you see a spreading bulls-eye rash developing, or you become unwell with flu-like symptoms or a headache, contact your GP or NHS 111 immediately.
